Creating a “Codealition:” Bold Plans for Using Building Codes to Strengthen Resilience

Tuesday, September 13, 2022 11:00 to 12:00 p.m. MDT

Recently, the White House put forth a bold new National Initiative to Advance Building Codes that will guide its agencies in consistently incorporating consensus-based codes into programs that fund or provide technical assistance on construction and rebuilding. The initiative’s holistic approach will help advance resilience, better protect underserved communities, and incentivize the adoption of modern codes and standards.
