

LISTENING SESSIONS!

Tribal Engagement and Indigenous-Led Public Health Disaster Research

PURPOSE?

The purpose of these Listening Sessions is to develop a community of practice of professionals who are currently involved in or have previous experience with tribal engagement or Indigenous-led public health disaster research.

GOALS?

To understand the current state and identify future directions for public health disaster research.

To strengthen intercultural collaborations and tribal engagement strategies through sustaining a community of practice.

QUESTIONS? PLEASE EMAIL:

 melissa.villarreal@colorado.edu
shelby.ross@colorado.edu

WHO?

All who are interested are welcome! Members of the community of practice may be at any career stage—from students to seasoned professionals. We hope to bring together disaster researchers of Indigenous descent as well as those who engage in public health research or outreach in collaboration with Indigenous populations or in tribal regions.

WHEN?

Join for one or more of the 2023 Listening Sessions.

- Tuesday, June 6, 11:00 a.m.-Noon MDT
- Tuesday, June 13, 1:00-2:00 p.m. MDT
- Tuesday, June 20, 1:00-2:00 p.m. MDT
- Tuesday, June 27, 11:00 a.m.-Noon MDT
- Sunday, July 9, 3:45-5:00 p.m. MDT

TO LEARN MORE AND TO REGISTER, PLEASE VISIT:

 <https://hazards.colorado.edu/research/public-health-disaster/listening-sessions>

