Gender & Disaster Pod

An initiative of WHGNE, WHIN & MUDRI

Formation & Purpose

The Gender & Disaster (GAD) Pod is an initiative of Women's Health Goulburn North East \(WHGNE\) and Women's Health In the North \(WHIN\), working in partnership with Monash University Disaster Resilience Initiative.

The GAD Pod was formally established in 2015 to promote an understanding of the role played by gender in survivor responses to natural disaster, and to embed these insights into emergency management practice.

Headed by Researcher, Dr Debra Parkinson (Adjunct Research Fellow, MUDRI), the GAD Pod reports to the Executive Officers of WHGNE and WHIN (with accountability to relevant funding bodies).

With funding from State and Federal governments and agencies, the GAD Pod is working to further initiatives in the area of gender and disaster.

History

The initiatives of the GAD Pod are grounded in qualitative research undertaken by the Pod partners in the aftermath of the 2009 Black Saturday bushfires. These were the most deadly fires since colonial settlement, with 173 people losing their lives, 414 people injured, 2029 houses destroyed and 7000 people displaced.

Wanting to offer support—but aware that recovery organisations were inundated with help from Australia and overseas—WHGNE consulted on-the-ground organisations about the most appropriate way, and time, to assist. Between late 2009 and 2013, researchers conducted in-depth interviews with 30 women, 47 workers, and 32 men affected by the fires – capturing their first-hand accounts of the disaster and its aftermath.

The research was staggered, with initial interviews conducted with women and health/community workers only. In 2012, the findings from this initial research—captured in The Way He Tells It: Relationships after Black Saturday—were released at Australia's first conference on natural disasters and family violence Identifying the Hidden Disaster.

Although worldwide literature suggests that increased violence against women is characteristic of post-disaster recovery, this was the first research conducted in Australia which identified and examined the link between natural disasters and violence against women.

The Hidden Disaster conference galvanised interest in gender issues in disaster, and led to an invitation by Monash University's Injury Research Institute (now MUDRI), to lead a successful partnership submission to the National Disaster Resilience Grants Scheme. With new project funding, the researchers continued their interviews—this time with men—to consider men's experiences of health and wellbeing during and after Black Saturday. The findings of this research are captured in the research report, Men on Black Saturday: Risks and opportunities for change.

Since undertaking the foundational research, the Pod partners have led, or collaborated on, a range of initiatives—with critical input from emergency management leaders and workers, community members and workers, experts in the fields of masculinity, gender and disaster, and federal, state and local government departments—intended to inform responses to women and men in future disasters. For example, collaborative development of national Gender and EM Guidelines; and the 3-year Gender and Disaster Taskforce 2014-2016, auspiced by the Victorian Emergency Management Commissioner.

Research commissioned in 2015 by DELWP was conducted by the GAD Pod to identify the barriers for women in fire and emergency leadership roles. Current research with GLHV@ARCSHS for Dept. of Premier and Cabinet is examining the needs and experiences of LGBTI people in emergencies. A comprehensive account of the GAD Pod's work to date is included on the following pages.

Awards Received

Date/Year	Title	Note / Ref.
2017	The Mary Fran Myers Award 2017 was awarded by the Natural Hazards Centre in Boulder, Colorado, and the Gender and Disaster Network for our collaborative efforts to reduce disaster vulnerability through advocacy, research and management. The award was to the lead researchers, the three GAD Pod organisations and executive officers, EMV and DHHS (along with GAD Taskforce members and community). This prestigious award is an important recognition of the Victorian-based research in the field of gender and disaster.	Awarded to the Gender and Disaster Collaboration
2015	The award for Best Thesis in the Social & Political Sciences was presented for ‘Women’s experience of violence following the aftermath of the Black Saturday bushfires’ (Supervisors: Professor Denise Cuthbert (RMIT), Dr Kirsten McLean, Dr Danielle Tyson.)	Awarded to D. Parkinson
2014	Resilient Australia Award , sponsored by the Attorney-General’s Department, for ‘Gender & Disaster: Leading the Change’, in the category of ‘Projects of National Significance’.	Awarded to WHGNE, WHIN & MIRI

2013	Victorian Health Promotion Foundation Award for 'Family violence after natural disaster research: Breaking new ground', in the category of 'Knowledge and Understanding'.	Awarded to WHGNE
2013	The 6th Professor Frederick 'Skip' Burkle Jnr Keynote Lecture, 2013 at the MUDRI Research Symposium, Monash University on 27/11/2013.	Presented to D. Parkinson and C. Zara

Major Achievements/Outcomes

Date/Year	Outcome
	GAD Pod website www.genderanddisaster.com.au and monthly Communiqué to a mailing list of approximately 800 subscribers (since June 2015).
2016	National Gender and Emergency Management Guidelines accepted. Funded by National Emergency Management Projects. http://www.genderanddisaster.com.au/info-hub/national-gem-guidelines/ The GEM Guidelines were accepted by UNISDR PreventionWeb – http://www.preventionweb.net/publications/view/50289 (PreventionWeb is the global disaster risk reduction (DRR) community platform to find and share DRR knowledge and expertise, and progress on the implementation the Sendai Framework for Disaster Risk Reduction 2015-2030.)
2016-17	Contributor to Australian Institute of Disaster Resilience (AIDR) review of Community Recovery (Handbook 2) and Evacuation Planning (Handbook 4) and a new handbook to be developed for spontaneous volunteers.
2016	MUDRI and EMV's 'Community-based resilience compendium' includes a page on the GAD Pod's work. http://www.monash.edu/_data/assets/pdf_file/0003/462468/Compendium-14042016.pdf
